Evac Evolution BWT system

Saving space – economising on power

If you are thinking about installing a BWT system, the first two questions on your mind will be space and power requirements. We have designed a Mini system with a very small footprint which can be supplied skid mounted or in modular form to make best use of the available space. Precise adjustment to different sea water qualities ensures effective disinfection, but saves on power whenever possible. And as a system based on filtration and UV technology, no chemicals are involved.

Storage

"A place for everything, and everything in its place" An awesome thought, which is made all the easier to achieve with our storage solutions.

EN

We can supply any sized storage box matching the dimensions you require for your storage solution.

Tool Storage

We work in partnerships with build project teams, refit managers & engineers. We assist with the planning of storage setups and layout, and of course supply all the tools you need to fill them also.

EN

Cabinets & Benches

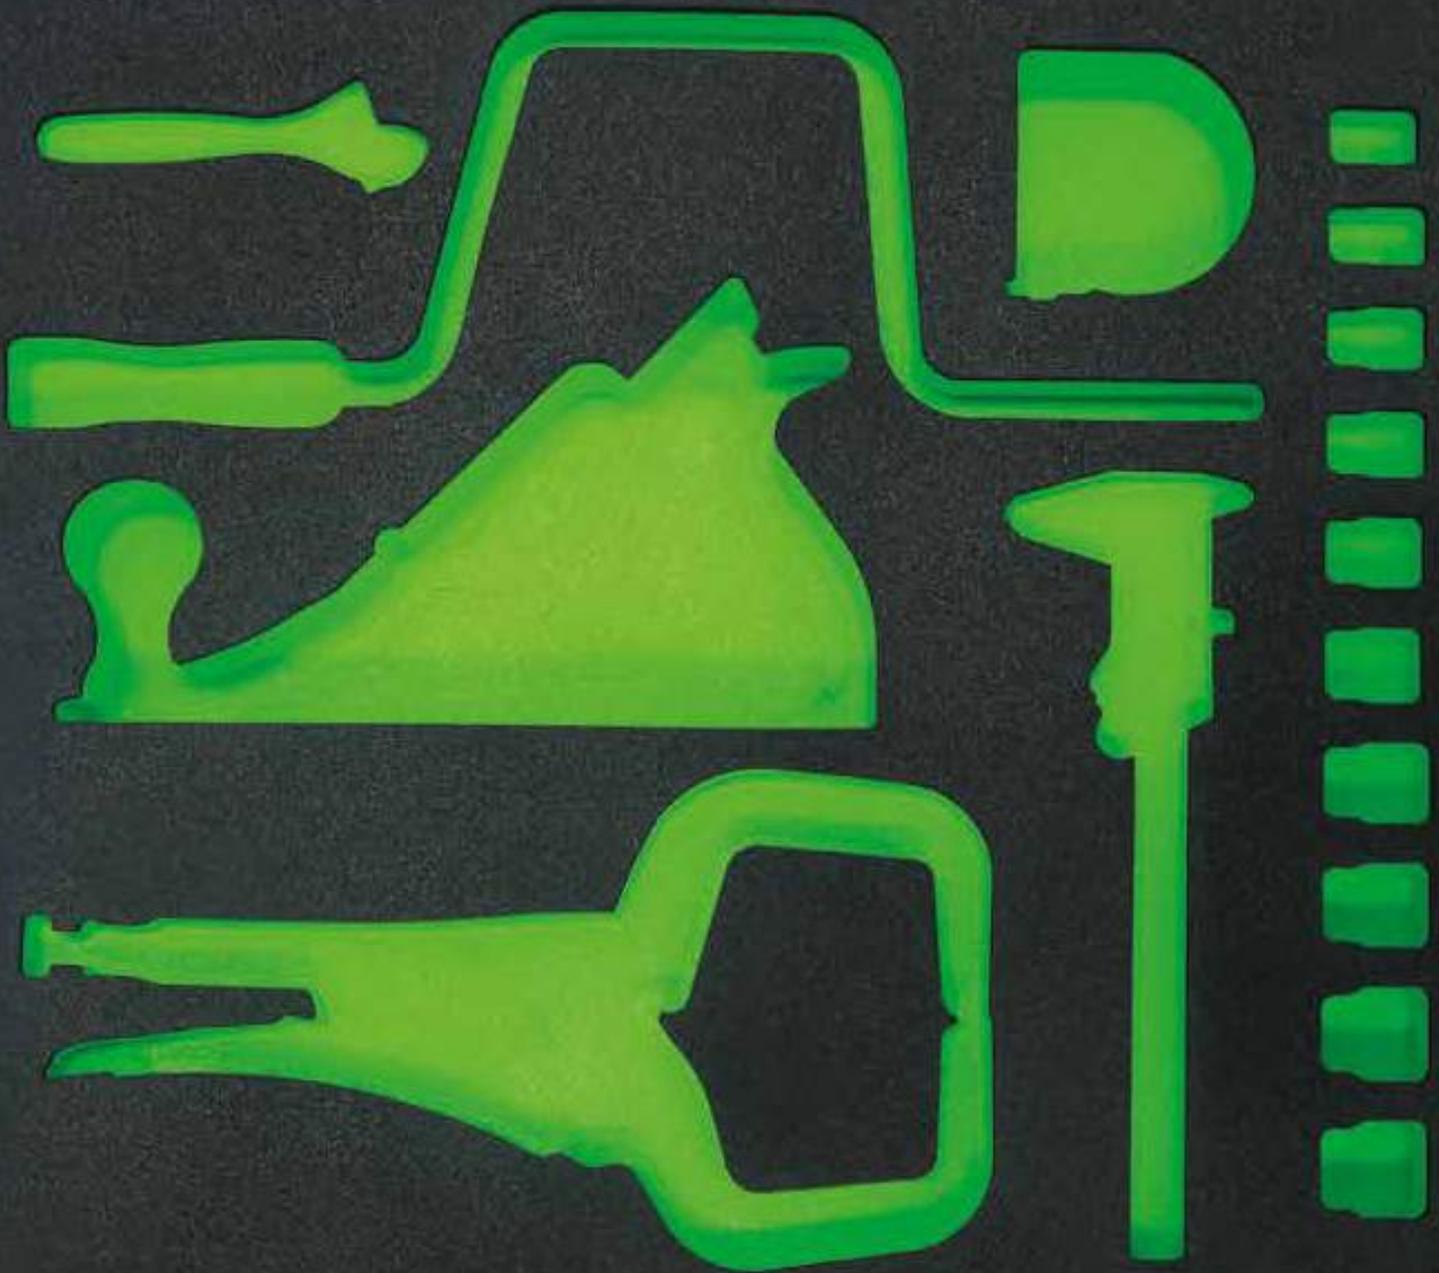

Boxes & Bags

Tool Control

We're not sure if there's anything more satisfying than seeing a well organised tool drawer. Foam inserts for tool control make it look even better! We can handle all parts of the process and often have engineers visit us to lay out how they want things to look.

Tool control. Your control.

A Visual Tool Control solution from Coplan is completely bespoke enabling you to create your own tool kit specification based on your requirements. With the help and guidance of our experts, you'll be in safe hands.

- Any tool can be precision-profiled and housed in our foam solutions
- Only the specific tool designed for each 'cut-out' will fit
- Visual Tool Control provides instant visibility of any missing or unreturned tools
- Foam colour options, branding, tool printing and etching are also available

Onboard since the beginning...

Created in Antibes in 1983, Clin'azur was the very first brand dedicated to meet yachts requirements in terms of maintenance. Through the trust and support of 2 generations of seamen, it has become a standard aboard.

Our formulations are developed in the permanent search for the optimal alliance between effectiveness and respect for the vessel, the environment and its user. This constant quest naturally leads us to a total requirement making sure that all products liable to be discharged into the sea in the rinsing water comply with Annex 5 of the MARPOL convention.

Making your life simple

The Team

Since the beginning, our core objective is to make life simple for our customers. To do this, we have a team of positive and proactive individuals, many who have experience as a crew member or in the industry.

We ensure this knowledge and expertise is kept to a high level and demonstrated to you throughout our supply process.

Our Service

Our main business activity is marine procurement. Sourcing our customers exactly what they need has been at the core of everything we have done since the start.

We work closely with crew and management across all departments on-board to ensure a vessels service can run without interruption.

The scope of this service has extended from superyachts to commercial ships, cruise liners and luxury properties with additional ancillary services offered such as mobile phone plans, storage, inventory management and logistical support.

What we Offer

Zero-Rated VAT

Goods supplied at zero rate, subject to conditions.

Real-Time Reporting

Check the status of any order, from any department.

Consultancy Service

Experienced team members can come and identify your requirements.

Onsite Inventory Service

We can gather data and record images of all your equipment.

Barcoding & Data Management

Unique Barcodes for every item along with PMS integration.

Global Purchasing System

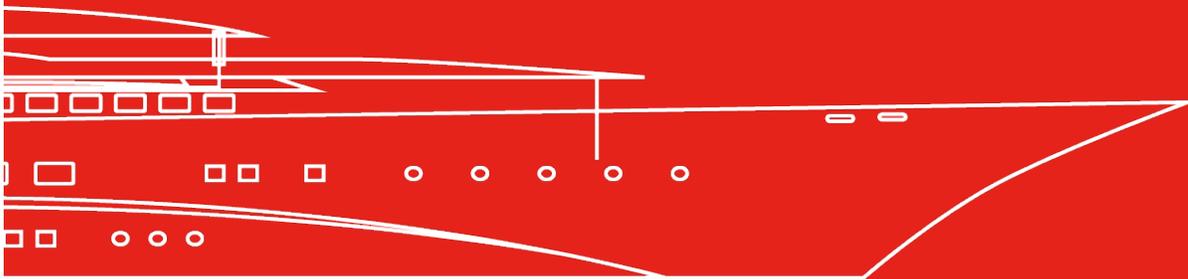

Our bespoke software is built to maximise efficiency.

Dedicated Account Manager

Your very own single point of contact.

Packing

Items packed into storage boxes ready for stowage.

Competitive Pricing

Strong buying power & discounts passed on.

Part Numbers

We always use manufacturer part numbers for identification and recording ease.

New Build Projects

Global has supported 45/50 of the largest yachts built since 1995 and hundreds of new build projects ranging from 30m - 180m.

We understand the project life cycle and have refined our new build service to ensure you get the best support throughout the process.

We are proud to have supported some of the most well-known projects, built by the most prestigious shipyards in the world.

Operational Yachts

For most crew and management, procurement is overly time consuming with little financial reward. We eliminate this time burden, while also bringing cost savings on products.

With our satellite office in Palma and regular trips to France, Italy and Spain, we're in the perfect location to support you in the Mediterranean.

Our team of 40 have real world knowledge and understanding of the requirements of running a yacht. Many of our staff have been both in a bilge and on a bridge.

We work closely with management companies across the world and assist with procurement, management information and logistics.

What our Customers think

*O-rings onboard,
thanks for your time
and attention on this.
Small part, but critical to the operation.*

Chief Engineer

*Thanks, for the quote and always finding these weird and
wonderful things
for me.*

Chief Officer

Thank you, you must keep most of the superyachts in this world running.

Captain

As always, thanks mate. Global, and you, by far still the best out there!

Chief Engineer

For many more, just ask...

The Global team have been my number 1 preferred supplier for initial engineering spares and tool requirements for my last two new build projects and I have continued to use their services for maintenance parts and consumables during the successive yacht operations.

Global's expertise is paramount in the critical areas of quotations, ordering, delivery, inventorying and then finally the customs legalities and their reliable assistance in these areas allows me to concentrate on the tasks required of an owner's technical representative during the busy yacht construction phases.

I have found the support from Global to be second to none and always reliable which is why I am happy to both continually utilise and also fully endorse their services.
