PISTON

The piston is subject to the high temperatures in the combustion space and the surface is liable to be eroded/burnt away. For this reason the material from which the crown is made must be able to maintain its strength and resist corrosion at high temperatures. Steel, alloyed with chromium and molybdenum is used, and some pistons have a special alloy welded onto the hottest part of the crown to try and reduce the erosion caused by the burning fuel. For this reason piston an very important part of engine YAF DIESEL offer piston materials and specsare according to engine manufacturers given details and if customer request we can offer class certificate.

LINER

Yaf Diesel able to offer liner for 2 stroke and 4 stroke engine most of them with class certificated and upon customer request also can offer genuine liner from engine builders.
